Thurman, Comes, Foley & Co., LLP is open for business and happy to continue to serve our community and clients. We place the health and safety of our clients and staff at the top of our priorities. Recognizing that the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic is at the forefront of everyone's minds, we want to assure you that our staff is taking every precaution to protect our clients and themselves and their families. We are committed to remaining calm, while also taking deliberate steps to ensure the health and safety of our clients and staff.

We are following guidance from government and health officials regarding "social distancing" when possible. To that effect if we can serve your tax and accounting needs without face to face meetings for the time being, we will do so. Please drop off, email or mail your information to us. If you would like to talk to one of our team members, we are available for a phone consultation, or we can set up an online meeting with you.

If you haven't dropped off your tax documents yet, please bring them in as soon as possible. If you have any signs of illness, or do not need to speak to one of us directly, we ask you to please put your information in an envelope and drop off your documents on the table located in the vestibule at our front entrance. Your information will be retrieved and delivered to the appropriate team member.

Instead of picking up your information at our office, we offer to email you a PDF file of your tax return and mail the hard copy return with your tax documents to you. We can set up an e-sign process, or you can return any signed documents directly to our office vestibule or send them to us via US mail or email.

Today, March 17th, the IRS announced that taxpayers have until July 15, 2020 pay their 2019 income taxes. While the filing deadline has not changed from its traditional date of April 15th, you can defer payment of taxes due until July 15th without penalty or interest. More information will follow as announcements are made by the IRS.

We hope that you understand our preventative measures. Please stay healthy and safe.

Thank you for your continued trust in us.

Sincerely,

Thurman, Comes, Foley & Co., LLP
